

TERRIFIC FIRE DESTROYS KRAFTILE PLANT

VALIANT WORK OF FIREMEN SAVES PART OF STRUCTURE

A terrific fire, of uncertain origin, early last night destroyed the Kraftile factory north of Niles. Damage estimated at anywhere from $30,000 to $40,000 was incurred by the blaze, factory officials said.

Destroying the machine shop, shipping department, and drying room, wherein are the huge dryers, the blaze was checked from destroying the entire plant by the concerted action of the Niles and Decoto Fire Departments. Firemen aver that the flames were the hottest they have ever encountered.

According to Joe Mesquite night watchman at the plant, he discovered the blaze at about 5:30 p. m., and immediately sounded the alarm at the plant. An attempt to phone to Niles was thwarted when the flames destroyed the wires. It was this fact that delayed the relaying of the alarm to the Niles Department, until the flames had made decided headway.

According to officials of the plant, the loss is partially covered by insurance, but added that the stock destroyed will be a total loss. Much of the equipment had been moved recently from the old plant to the new $50,000 structure. The latter was not touched by the flames.

It is the opinion of workers, that the blaze started in some way in the shipping rooms, where quantities of loose packing materials were stored. The flames spread throughout the entire structure with surprising rapidity. Heroic work of the fire department's saved the offices and the main mixing plant, where quantities of expensive machinery is in operation.

Officials were unable to say if reconstruction of the plant would begin immediately. About 30 men will be thrown out of employment by the loss of the factory.

Two hundred feet square, the structure made a spectacular fire, as the galvanizing material on the metal roof and walls burned with a flashing brilliancy. The two large chimneys of the drying ovens did not topple, as was continuously feared by the fire fighters.

ALLEGED SWINDLER ENDS MATRIMONIAL TANGLE AT OAKLAND

H. Jewell Re-Marries Second Wife After Bigamy Scare

Howard M. Jewell, sentenced to six months in jail for selling stock without a permit to Rev. McElhenney and several other Washington township people, last year, was temporarily released from confinement this week to file intention to re-wed his second wife, Coral La Verne Wanless, when he stated his intention of clearing up a matrimonial tangle discovered last October at the time of his arrest.

Jewell is alleged to have been married to two women at the same time, and escaped bigamy charges only because neither woman would bring charges against him, and because his second marriage had not been performed within the state of California. The prosecuting attorney at the time of Jewell's first trial discovered that Jewell, under the name of J. D. Reeve, had married Mrs. Mary Reeve, of Los Angeles, and had six children by her. Without divorcing her, the prosecutor learned, Jewell married Miss Wanless at Portland, Oregon, in 1930.

While on bail, awaiting trial, Jewell went to Reno, met his second wife there and obtained a divorce from wife No. 1. He escaped prosecution for bigamy.

His second wife, whom he will re-marry soon, maintains her faith in him, and states that when his short term is up in September, they will make a new start.

Washington township people will remember Jewell and McCutcheon as stock swindlers who were alleged to have cheated several local people out of various sums. McCutcheon was acquitted at the trial some time ago, while Jewell was sentenced to six months imprisonment.

FIREMEN SUBDUED CANYON BLAZE TUESDAY

A hurry call at 11:03 o'clock Tuesday morning sent the Niles fire engines into lower Niles canyon to combat a dangerous brush blaze started by flames that destroyed a nondescript shelter used by hoboes.

Arriving at the vicinity, just below Clarks bridge, the firemen were unable to reach the flames because of underbrush and fences. It was necessary to drive the truck by a round-about route in order to bring the hose into play. The department brought the blaze under control and stayed at the scene until all danger was past.

According to residents of the vicinity, the hobo shack had been unoccupied throughout the summer. No one could account for the blaze, but it is thought that some itinerant, temporarily living in the place in some way started the fire and fled when it got beyond his control.

The blaze was particularly dangerous, occurring as it did just across the narrow creek channel from numerous houses and barns. Firemen agree that had the grass on the opposite side of the creek caught fire, it is quite possible that a serious conflagration may have resulted.

RAMBUNCTIOUS RAM RECENTLY ROUTS REPORTER

All newspaper reporters admit that being chased out of places is an essential part of their careers, but being pursued across a large field by an enraged and wild-eyed goat is just too much, according to Miss Hazel Mendoza, reporter for the Pleasanton Times.

Strolling about on her father's ranch near Sunol one day recently, Miss Mendoza found herself confronted with a small but evil-looking ram. Being some distance from shelter, and sensing that the beast had menacing intentions, the reporter attempted to saunter nonchalantly by, but several guttural grunts from the ram confirmed her fears that the beast was preparing for an attack. Without further delay, Miss Mendoza fled, hotly pursued by the ram, which, no doubt was loathe to see his quarry escape. In the end, the goat sprang to the fence, the quadruped was quickly overhauled by the luckless journalist, but the latter huddled the barrier just as the ram was gathering himself for the final lunge.

In landing on the safe side of the fence, Miss Mendoza twisted her ankle, and as a result was unable to be at her desk in the Pleasanton office this week. She has been an unusually trustworthy and valuable reporter for Mr. Parks on his Pleasanton Times for about four years.

In speaking of her encounter with the ram, Miss Mendoza avers that she did nothing to enrage it. "I wasn't even intending to interview it," she lamented.

NILES WOMAN DIES LAST FRIDAY AFTER A LONG ILLNESS

Mrs. J. E. Smith, Native Of France, Called August 14th

Friends and acquaintances of Mrs. John Edmund Smith, of Niles, were grieved to hear of her death last Friday, at her home north of Niles.

Having been in poor health for a long time, Mrs. Smith passed away at 6:15 p. m., August 11. Forty seven years of age, Mrs. Smith was born in France in the year 1886. She became a citizen of the United States while still a girl.

She was the wife of James E. Smith, who has been connected with the Kraftile Company, at the Niles Plant, for some time.

The funeral was held Monday from the Sorensen Funeral Parlors. Interment was in the Holy Cross Cemetery at San Mateo.

MAN CHARGED WITH BATTERY GIVEN A PROBATION TERM

Arrested several months ago on charges of battery brought by A. Foster, Niles canyon swimming and picnic resort proprietor, R. J. Moore, of Oakland, was last Friday tried before Judge J. A. Silva at the Niles courthouse, and turned over to the probation officer for recommendation as to the length of the period during which Moore will be on his good behavior.

According to reports, Moore struck Foster after the latter had asked to be paid for his admitting Moore and his party to the swimming pool. Moore, without any provocation, it is alleged, struck Foster, knocking him down.

Moore was placed on probation for an indefinite time.

ROSE ADMITS PLOT TO EXTORT MONEY FROM NILES MAN

Pleads Guilty, and Asks Probation Before Oakland Court

Pleading guilty before Superior Judge Frank M. Ogden, Clarence Rose, Niles youth, Tuesday admitted that he had sent threatening notes to Frank Duarte, Niles contractor, in an attempt to extort a sum of $500.

Asking for a term of probation, Rose will be held pending a report of the probation officer, to be given on August 29. At that time sentence will be pronounced.

Rose was apprehended two weeks ago when officers watched the place near the Zwissig Dairy where Rose had instructed Duarte to leave the money. He was caught when he came to the spot and took a fake package placed there by the police. The notes sent to Duarte contained threats against the latter's twelve-year-old son, Francis.

Rose, in admitting his guilt, said that the money was necessary to defray doctor bills, incurred in the treatment of an incurable pulmonary disease.

The Misses Helen and Marcela Bliss have returned from a vacation spent at Lake Tahoe. They are both employed in the office of the H. P. Garin Company at Centerville.

MISSION SAN JOSE WOMAN SUMMONED BY DEATH SUNDAY

Mrs. Anna T. Brown, After Long Illness, Dies at Mission Home

Not in good health for some time past, Mrs. Anna T. Brown, of Mission San Jose, passed away at her home Sunday, August 13.

A native of the Azores, Mrs. Brown has long been a resident of Mission San Jose, where she was active in social life and had made scores of friends. She was the wife of the late Frank S. Brown.

The deceased is survived by three sons—Manuel H. Brown, of Mountain View; Frank S. and John W. Brown, of San Jose.

A quiet funeral, attended by many friends was held yesterday from the Brown home in Mission San Jose at 9:00 a. m. Mass was said at the St. Joseph's church at 9:30 a. m., the Rev. Father Leal officiating. Interment was in the St. Joseph's cemetery at Mission.

Hundred Pair New Boots Found Hidden Near Clark Bridge

What is believed to be the cache of a gang of railroad thieves was discovered in Niles canyon Sunday, when a small boy, bent on searching out a good place for a picnic, stumbled across several pairs of new boots, hidden under a shallow layer of dry grass.

Calling others of his party to the scene, the boy pointed out his discovery, and a subsequent search revealed several other places where boots were hidden. According to authorities who later examined the vicinity, some 100 pairs of new boots were hidden away.

Cached away just below the Clark bridge, immediately opposite the old Mendocina swimming hole, the quantities of the boots lead authorities to believe that an organized gang of freight car thieves have been operating in the district. According to Deputy Sheriff Hugo Radbruch, who was immediately summoned on the case, it has been the practice of the car thieves to break into a shipment of merchandise which had been spotted previously, and dump quantities of the materials at a pre-determined place, where accomplices in an automobile would later pick up the goods and drive them to the gang's peddlers and merchants in the cities. Working on this hypothesis, Radbruch deputized several men and had the vicinity carefully watched all day, in the hopes that the culprits would come for their loot.

According to the small boy who made the initial discovery, several men, all wearing new boots, accosted him one day last week as he was playing in the vicinity, and asked him what he was doing there. The boy avers that he could identify the men if he were to see them again.

Constable Tom Silva, who was called as soon as the discovery was made, said that the gang theory is entirely plausible, in that an individual culprit would have difficulty in disposing of such quantities of footwear. He said that the everyday hobo of the old school was somewhat of a lone wolf, and that the solution of the boot mystery will be found in the uncovering of a box-car robbing gang.

Tags on several of the pairs of boots showed that the articles had been part of a shipment of shoes from the St. Louis factory of the J. C. Penny Company to that firm's branch store in a bay city.

Deputy Sheriff Hugo Radbruch, who has been working on the case since Sunday reports that he has unearthed several leads that may end in the arrest of the criminals.

MISSION MAN KILLED IN SUNDAY CRASH ON SAN JOSE HIGHWAY

MIKE HADAD WEDS JOSEPHINE DAHER AT SUNNYVALE

Married last Sunday at Sunnyvale, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Hadad are this week honeymooning in the southern part of the state. They plan to spend several days on Catalina Island, off the coast from San Pedro.

The bride was Miss Josephine Daher, of Sunnyvale, whose engagement to Hadad was announced about a month ago at a shower given her in Sunnyvale.

An attractive wedding ceremony was performed in the Episcopal church. The maid of honor was Mrs. Olga Jeha, and best man was the bride's brother, Eli Daher.

The bride was stunningly attired in white satin, and carried white roses and lilies of the valley.

During Hadad's absence from his Niles store, the business is being cared for by Miss Josephine Vabeck and Miss Anna Daher, sister of the bride. Miss Sadie Corey is assisting at the store, also.

Upon their return, the newlyweds plan to make their home in Niles, having taken a house on G street.

Hadad, a Niles merchant for sixteen years, has made a host of friends here.

Salvador Russo Dead, Joe Perry, of Niles, Injured

Unable to avoid crashing into the wreckage of three cars on the San Jose Highway near the Santa Clara county line Sunday, Salvador Russo, of Mission San Jose was killed when his car hurtled over after striking the obstructions.

Riding with him were Joe Perry, of Niles, who suffered cuts and lacerations and a broken rib, and Joe Silveria, of Mission San Jose, who sustained a broken arm.

Eight persons were injured in the crash, which involved four machines. Deputy sheriffs who investigated the crash immediately after, said two cars approaching attempted to cut around other cars in the middle lane of the highway, a minor collision of the first two causing two other machines to be forced into the accident.

Witnesses of the accident told police officers that, as Allen Post, of Stockton, going north, attempted to pass around a north-bound machine, he swung into the middle lane and collided lightly with a car driven by Scott Dunham, of Berkeley, throwing Dunham's vehicle out of control. Dunham smashed into a car driven by J. T. Davina, of San Jose. The fourth machine, in which

Sitting Bull Not Chief, but Influential Leader

Sitting Bull, whose Indian name was Tatanka Yotanka, was a Sioux, born in 1834 (or 1837) in what later became South Dakota.

His father was a warrior, but never a chief. Sitting Bull was not himself a war chief, though he led his people in some of the most sanguinary fighting of the plains wars. He was in his youth a medicine man, and afterward a preacher and politician—even a prophet, for he claimed the power of divining the intentions of the Great Spirit, and gave to the conflicts in which he figured something of the character of a holy war.

In 1876 he commanded the band of hostile Sioux which ambushed Custer and massacred his troops on the Little Big Horn river, Montana.

Following the battle, Sitting Bull fled to Canada, where he remained for four years. He then returned and surrendered himself and his followers to the white man under promise of amnesty.

Although apparently submissive, he cherished an unyielding hostility, and was one of the first to join the new outbreak of the Sioux in the early winter of 1890. It was in this conflict, in December, 1890, that he was killed near Fort Yates, North Dakota, while he and other rebellious Sioux were resisting arrest by the Indian police.

Natives Believe Everest

Is Goddess of Mountains

To the natives, Everest is the goddess-mother of the mountains, the abiding place of a great spirit, and to disturb its guarded sanctuary is to brave the wrath of the gods. All the higher peaks of the Himalayas are the home of spirits, some good, some evil, and the loftiest of them are reserved for the principal deities of the Hindoo religion.

Nanda Devi, one of the highest mountains in the British empire, towers to a height of 25,500 feet in the province of Garhwal, and the snow which is continually being blown off its summit is the smoke from a god's kitchen. Beneath the peaks of Badrinath and Kedarnath, which are among the holiest of the heights, lives a Hindoo high priest, from whose rock residence, is in communion with the gods. He is so holy that only the highest caste Brahmins can approach within five feet of him, and the entrance to the temple over which he presides has three doorways, in succession—of Copper, silver, and gold, respectively.

Red Sea's Monsters

The Red Sea hides many dangerous monsters in its depths. Near the island of Sokotra one may meet the deadly devilfish. These are really gigantic rays or skates. They have huge, square, flattened bodies often 20 feet across. One corner of the flat square is the head. The mouth is underneath. The two side corners are fins, powerful enough to swing the flat body through the sea at an incredible pace. To the fourth corner is attached a tail, 6 feet in length. Its bite means a severed leg or arm for the swimmer.

Relics of Vanished Race

Amazing discoveries were made by an amateur archeologist of Johannesburg, South Africa, in northern Transvaal. His discoveries include sacrificial graves of an entirely new type, a sacrificial altar approached by ceremonial causeways and staircases so small that they could only have been used by pygmies, an irrigation system of enormous extent, and remnants of a large dam made by a vanished race, and an authentic mining implement used by unknown copper miners of the Palabara.

London's Famous Museum Holds Great Collection

The British museum is a famous institution in London, founded in 1753, when the government, by act of parliament, purchased for 20,000 pounds (two-fifths of the original cost) Sir Hans Sloane's extensive collection of curiosities of natural history, works of art, books and manuscripts.

This collection, together with the Harleian manuscripts and the Cottonian library, was deposited in Montague house, which was bought for the purpose and opened as the British museum in 1759.

The present buildings were erected chiefly during the years 1823 to 1857. The museum was originally divided into three departments—printed books, manuscripts and natural history. Now there are seven classifications—printed books, manuscripts, prints and drawings, oriental antiquities, British and Medieval antiquities, and ethnography, Green and Roman antiquities, and coins and medals.

Additional sections in zoology, botany, mineralogy and geology are now at the South Kensington museum.

The library consists of some 3,000,000 volumes, and receives a copy of every book published in the United Kingdom. It increases at the rate of 50,000 volumes a year.

The Elgin marbles and the Egyptian and Assyrian antiquities are among the most famous items in the museum's collections.

First Actual Work Done on Panama Canal in 1882

The first actual work done on the Panama canal was undertaken by a company chartered in France, headed by Ferdinand de Lesseps, a French engineer and diplomat. This was on January 20, 1882, when the excavation of the Culebra cut was begun. But the enterprise got into financial difficulties and work was stopped in 1889. A reorganized company resumed operations in October, 1894, and continued work of varying extent until its rights and property were purchased by the United States under authority of the act of congress of June 28, 1902.

The building of the canal was taken up by this country in May, 1904, with Gen. George W. Goethals as chief engineer, and finished ten years later. The first ocean steamer passed through on August 3, 1914, and on August 15 the canal was opened to commerce.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"Evening Red" Apt to Be True

The jingle about "evening red and morning gray," which also is interpreted in another widely-known couplet beginning, "a red sky at night is a sailor's delight," is apt to be true, a weather bureau man said. This belief is based on scientific facts about atmospheric conditions. The meteorologist explained it like this: The red color caused by the setting sun is not due to the same conditions as the red color when the sun is rising. The earth has been warmed all day and by sunset the earth is warming the air, causing an uprush of air and moisture. The rays shining through this cause redness. However, in the morning no warm air is rising from the earth, and if the sun's light shows red, it is because the air already is full of moisture and therefore rain is probable.

Seven Wise Men

The names of the seven wise men of Greece include Solon, Chilo, Pittacus, Bias, Perander (in place of whom some give Epimenides); Cleobulus and Thales. They were the authors of the celebrated mottoes inscribed in later days in the Delphian temple. The mottoes were as follows:

"Know thyself."—Solon.
"Consider the end."—Chilo.
"Know thy opportunity."—Pittacus.
"Most men are bad."—Bias.
"Nothing is impossible to industry."—Perander.
"Avoid excesses."—Cleobulus.
"Suretyship is the precursor of ruin."—Thales.

Butterflies' Sight

It is believed that butterflies can see by ultra violet light more than by the gray mixture of colors which we call daylight. Ultra violet rays are shorter in wave length than those colors of the visible spectrum, so that they can render minute objects more visible and show up ordinary colors in a different form. This principle has been used by the European police to detect alterations in the figures of checks, for unless the same ink is employed for the faking the added color only looks the same when studied by daylight.—Montreal Herald.

Great Death Valley Park Is Lowest Point in U. S.

Mysterious Death Valley, the lowest point in the United States, became a national monument under the national park service of the Department of the Interior by proclamation of Former President Hoover, observes the Review of Reviews. This added another 1,500,000-acre area, rich in geologic and historic interest to Uncle Sam's chain of parks and monuments. It lies in southeastern California, near the Nevada line.

According to the United States Geological survey, the valley lies 276 feet below sea level, yet fewer than 86 miles away towers Mount Whitney to an altitude of 14,496 feet, the highest point in the United States outside of Alaska.

In the midst of the sand dunes, gravel and saline deposits of the desert is an oasis, Furnace Creek ranch, where Panamint Indians cultivate oranges, garden vegetables, corn and alfalfa. Nor is the valley itself bare of plant life. The cactus, greasewood, yucca palm, chuck-walla, and other odd flora help create a unique landscape. And in spring the ground is carpeted with wild flowers of rare beauty and color.

Ghost Lights Haunt Old U. S. and Scotland Peaks

Suggestive of the supernatural, "ghost lights" are among the weirdest phenomena in nature. On Pike's Peak, in Colorado, they are sometimes displayed in awe-inspiring fashion. At night, on mountain-sides, objects seem to be burning with a fire that does not burn. Cooking utensils of campers "take fire" and buttons on their clothing are "lighted." The breath of horses and mules seems to "take fire." Flames are emitted from their nostrils and their ears and manes appear to be aflame. Famous for such phenomena is the stormy summit of Ben Nevis, in Scotland, whereon is situated an observatory. Sometimes in a snowstorm, the whole building appears to be illuminated, every angle of roof and chimney spouting a jet of flame six inches and more in length. A person going out of doors raises a stick above his head and instantly a light streams from its end.—Montreal Herald.

Luxurious Pen Scheme

There are no walls and no cells, not even a punishment cell, at the Roxbury farm, Maryland's penal institution. No handcuffs, leg irons, clubs nor revolvers are visible. Neither are there guards, keepers or turnkeys, says the Baltimore Sun. The inmates are in charge of men designated as "officers," who act as instructors as well. The place seethes with building and farming activities. One may observe half a dozen small groups of inmates working in as many widely separated spots on the place with the nearest officer probably a quarter of a mile away. The inmate's garb is a comfortable jumper or jacket and a pair of overalls. The dark blue denim of this costume is the only monotonous thing about Roxbury.

Robin Hood

Doubt is pretty general of any truth in the story of Robin Hood, inasmuch as very similar tales are found in Germany and Scandinavia and appear to be part of the common heritage of all these related northern peoples. There is, at any rate, no proof of Robin Hood's existence, although the exploits of some local hero may have been the center around which the Robin Hood tales crystallized. Some authorities think he represents simply the remnant of the old Saxon race, living in perpetual defiance of the Norman conquerors.

Pigeon Racing Popular

Pigeon racing is the national sport of Belgium. There is probably not a village in that country that does not have its Homing-Pigeon club, from which thousands of birds are shipped to France and other nearby countries each week to fly back home during the racing season. Pigeon fanciers from all parts of the country take part in the Grand National of Belgium, which is said to provoke more interest there than a world's series in baseball, the Kentucky Derby, or a Harvard-Yale football game excites in the United States.

Velocity of Tennis Balls

If a tennis ball were an airplane it could fly across the Atlantic in 35 hours, for it covers 93.3 miles an hour when in action. That is the speed which the ball attained when one of the players volleyed in the Davis cup match between Germany and England. Service balls sped across the net at "only" 68.5 miles an hour. Even the slower balls sailing from base line went at a rate of 31 miles an hour.—Montreal Herald.

Black Widow Spider Only Poisonous One of Family

Throughout the West, South and up into the New England states occurs our only really poisonous spider, the black widow or hourglass spider (Lactoderes mactans). This naked, shiny black spider is not confined to this continent alone but, according to Herms, is found in the West Indies, Madagascar, New Zealand and Algeria. The name, says the Rural New Yorker, is derived from its color and from the fact that on the lower surface of the abdomen of the females there appears a reddish figure much resembling the old-fashioned hourglass. Except for this there are no marks upon it. On the males there may be additional reddish marks on the sides of the abdomen. In length the female will measure from one to one and one-half inches in diameter over all.

It is most common to find the spider hiding in old houses, outbuildings, barns, woodpiles, in cracks and under brush or stones. The spiders often attack from these hiding places and thus many cases of biting have been without provocation on the part of the victim. For those who find it necessary to frequent the haunt of the spiders, it would be best to destroy such webs and spiders as are known to occur, but if a bite is inflicted much the same procedure should be followed as in the case of the rattlesnake. Bleeding should be induced, a tourniquet applied if the wound is on an extremity, and a doctor summoned.

The poison from the bite causes great bodily pain which reaches its maximum in about three days, when it gradually subsides, but it may be some weeks before all the effects have passed off.

Heroes of Mountain Pass Rescue Fallen Wayfarers

In recent years it has become the habit of certain thrill-hunting tourists in the Alps to get "lost" deliberately so that they may be "rescued" by the St. Bernard dogs and find shelter in the famous hospice of the St. Augustinian monks, whose grim morgue was, in ages past, filled with the bodies of real fallen wayfarers. The highly-trained dogs were sent out in snowstorms to see what they could find, and their well-developed sense of smell frequently located human beings who had fallen victims to the terrors of the St. Bernard pass.

The travel industry has commercialized the fine record of heroism of the monks of this highest winter habitation in the Alps, so they are looking for a place where they will be better able to restore the spirit of self-sacrifice of their founder, St. Bernard de Menthon, who established the monastery in 962. They are extending their work of mercy to the wild Si-La pass in the Himalayas.

The Brotherhood consists of about forty members, who deeply regret that their hospice should have become a mere show place for holiday-makers.—Tit-Bits Magazine.

Suwanee River Rises in Southern Georgia Swamp

The Suwanee river rises in the Okefenokee swamp of southern Georgia, and starts its journey in a small way by being the outlet for Billy's lake. But it increases in size rapidly, since it is fed by underground springs and rivers. It flows through Florida and empties into the Gulf of Mexico.

The towns along the shore of the Suwanee are few and far between, and those that do repose on its banks are small. The river seems to turn out of its course, on several occasions, to avoid passing the larger towns.

The general impression, notes a writer in Pathfinder Magazine, seems to be that the Suwanee flows through swamp land, but an explorer who made a canoe trip the whole length of the river, in his report to the American Museum of Natural History, describes the stream as appearing to flow through solid rock. The "swampy" impression is received because of the semi-tropical vegetation lining its banks. Live oak and cypress, from which are suspended long streamers of Spanish moss, rise from the very edge of the water, on banks of porous limestone. But the black water does give it a gruesome look.

Record Lava Flow

The most extensive flow of lava from a volcano known in history was that from Hecla, or Kalka, located in Iceland, which, in 1783, was 45 miles long and 15 miles wide. Because of the small population of the island, however, it could hardly compare with those in densely populated countries for destructiveness. Hecla stands about 25 miles inland, where it makes an imposing sight, rising 5,000 feet in the air in its lonely majesty. It has five craters, but not since 1845 has there been an eruption. Altogether in its known history there have been 18 eruptions, but none to compare with that of 1783.—Washington Star.

"The" Sally Whitcomb

By ALICE DUANE

© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate. WNU Service

SALLY WHITCOMB, from her high window, watched the guests gathering on the terrace above the lake before dinner with unexpected resentment.

"I'll cheat," she said. "I'll cheat if I have to."

Depression had struck Sally a double blow. First it had killed her well-to-do father, after he had lost all his money in one of the financial crashes. She had pluckily looked about for a means of making money. As a result of her college diploma, natural taste and aptitude, she had landed a job teaching smart young girls in a fashionable school. But the depression ended that.

So, after several months when the shreds of her old fortune had been her only means of support, she had gratefully accepted employment from the mother of one of her old friends—now married and living abroad.

"It may be a bit trying, Sally," Mrs. Van Arsdale had said. "Aunt Jane is a bit of a trial, and you may get awfully bored. There's a trained nurse, of course, to look after her, but she wants someone young and attractive as a sort of companion." So Sally went to the Adirondacks with the Van Arsdales as Aunt Jane's companion. It wasn't so bad. She read to the crotchety old invalid, she wrote letters for her, she helped her do crossword and jigsaw puzzles. Aunt Jane always went to her room at six, so Sally's evenings were free.

She had been swimming in the lake while Aunt Jane had her usual afternoon nap when she first saw him. She hadn't seen him enter the lake. But there he was, sitting on the float when she came up from a dive.

"Nice work," he said, lazily. Sally pulled herself deftly up beside him.

"Nice water," she said. "When did you come? Today?"

"Yes, I'm Jack Barnwell. Ever hear of me?"

Sally racked her brain. "No," she said after a minute. "I'm Sally Whitcomb."

"Oh!" said Jack. "The Sally Whitcomb?"

Sally laughed. "Well, I'm Sally Whitcomb. I don't suppose there are two of me."

They sat silent, contented, for a few minutes.

"Come on," he said suddenly, jumping up and reaching out a hand to help Sally to her feet. "It's time to dress. Race you to the dock."

They plunged together into the cold water and swam to the house. Sally liked him, and sensed he liked her, too.

She had looked for him again the next afternoon when she went for her swim. But he hadn't been there. Today Aunt Jane had been particularly trying, and Sally had missed her swim. "I'm not going to take a nap," Aunt Jane had said. "It's such a nice day I'm just going to stay awake and work out that new crocheted mat."

"I'll cheat," said Sally to her re-

Georgia was the first state to introduce forestry in the vocational agricultural schools and the first to hold state forest fairs.

Dangerous at Night

Cobras are much more active at night than in the daytime when they are often sleepy and distinctly short-sighted.

The Iron Heart

A strange find was made in Nagykoros, where the site of an old cemetery is being leveled for building. A coffin containing an ancient form of tongs was unearthed and no traces exist that any corpse was ever buried in it. As the tongs were found to hold a rusty iron heart in its teeth, and as the site is not far from the place where witches were burned in the Seventeenth century, it is believed that the tongs and the iron heart are relics of the witch-burning period.

The Atmosphere

It seems that not all atmosphere is the life-giving substance which man has believed it is. The atmosphere of cities frequently may be dangerous if not absolutely deadly. Poisons are in the air as though sprayed there from enemy airplanes. But instead of airplanes it is the smokestacks and chimneys, vents from drains and sewers, exhausts from myriads of automobiles and the canyon-like streets. Health authorities have long warned against the increasing saturation of the atmosphere with these poisonous acids.

Soybean Oil

Soybean oil, as the name implies, is a vegetable oil, obtained from the mature seed of the soybean plant. It is classified technically as a semi-drying oil, which merely means to say that its capacity to dry is not equal to that of the classic example of a drying oil—linseed oil—but is superior to that of the nondrying oils, such as cottonseed oil. This capacity to dry is of extreme importance especially in one great industry, the paint industry.

Few Active Volcanoes

Few volcanoes are active in the United States. Mount Lassen, in California, shows occasional small outbreaks. Mount Hood, in Oregon, exhales vapor, as also does Mount Rainier in Washington. The Mono valley craters and Mount Shasta are extinct, like most of the many volcanic peaks in the Cascade range. Mount St. Helens in Washington was in eruption in 1841 and 1842, and Mount Baker in the same state was active in the following year. An eruption occurred in 1857 at Tres Virgines, in the south of California.

Tie Used Fifty-Seven Years

Probably one of the oldest railway cross-ties in existence is still in service three miles east of Newton, Miss., on the Vicksburg division of the Illinois Central. This tie was placed in the track in 1875 and has been in continuous use since that date. The tie has borne the weight of five different kinds of rail during its 57 years of service. According to a supervisor on this district the tie is good for 50 years more.—Railway Age.

Ulster

Six of the nine counties of Ulster constitute northern Ireland, together with the parliamentary boroughs of Belfast and Londonderry. The counties are Antrim, Armagh, Down, Londonderry, Fermanagh and Tyrone.

Mrs. Joseph Rose Is Claimed by Death Following Long Illness

Death claimed one of Pleasanton's old time residents when Mrs. Mariana Rose passed away at the family residence on Main street, Pleasanton, last Monday afternoon following a lingering illness.

Mrs. Rose had been ailing for the past two years, but it was four months ago when she was taken seriously ill and had been confined to her bed since. She was a native of the Azores Islands and came to California forty nine years ago, at which time she married. She had lived in Pleasanton since coming to the United States.

A woman with a pleasing personality, Mrs. Rose won a large circle of friends, who paid her their last respects during her long illness and who attended her funeral Thursday morning.

She was a very active member of several fraternal organizations and was very helpful in the up-keeping of the Catholic church. She went through all the chairs in the S. P. R. S. I. lodge and served as a delegate to the state conventions for many years. Her services as an active member of the U. P. E. C. lodge will be greatly missed, the lodge she has served as treasurer for a number of years.

She was also a member of the Druids Circle and of the St. Augustine's Guild.

The high esteem in which she was held among the people of the Pleasanton and Washington townships was shown by the large crowd which attended her funeral, held Thursday morning at the St. Augustine church, in Pleasanton, with interment following at the St. Augustine cemetery. Services at the church were conducted by the Reverend Father James Vildomat. The three lodges of which she was a member conducted services at the Graham mortuary and at the cemetery.

Honorary pallbearers were Minnie Ackerman, Mrs. Rita de Ponte, Mrs. Anna Nevis, Mrs. J. M. Perry, Mrs. A. Francisco and Mrs. Antonio Silva.

Mrs. Rose is survived by her husband Joseph Rose, Sr., and two sons, William and Joseph, Jr., all of whom are prominent citizens of this community.

She also leaves three sisters, Mrs. Miguel Silva, Mrs. Louisa Joseph and Mrs. Mary Rose, all of Pleasanton; and three brothers, John Ferraria, of San Ramon, Manuel, of Hayward; and James of Livermore.

Church Card Party Proves Great Success

Ten tables of whist were enjoyed at the card party held at parish hall, Pleasanton, last Tuesday evening for the benefit of the St. Augustine's parish.

Mrs. Mary McDermott was chairman of the affair and was assisted by women of the parish.

Those winning honors in cards were the Mesdames Con Nevin, E. A. Mullen, Carolyn Bedsworth, Graham Barber, Miss Victoria Bianchi, E. H. Rasmussen, Mrs. Sam Jackson, Mrs. M. R. Paulo, Mrs. Edna Harris, Mrs. John Dutra, F. L. Smith, Dan Laughlin and Mrs. MacGrath.

Other honors went to Miss B. Jacob, Mrs. M. Terra, Mrs. McGrath, F. L. Smith, Jack Webb, Lillian Blessin, Carolyn Bedsworth, Mrs. Joseph Vizzolini, Mrs. John Dutra and Mrs. R. Cook.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS BACK FROM BIG BASIN TRIP

Having returned from their stay at Camp Adahi in the Big Basin recently, the Camp Fire Girls all insist that this year's vacation was one of the best that they have ever taken. Mrs. J. E. Townsend, guardian, reports that all the girls gained weight, and look splendid after their stay in the mountains.

Interspersing hikes with camp activities the girls, practiced first aid, nature craft and studied astronomy.

All cooking was done outdoors, and all over that the meals were perfect every time, telling of the muffins and good things that were forthcoming on each menu.

On one evening plays were presented by the girls, the best being a fairy play written by Peggy Munger, which was put on by the Bluebird group. Miss Munger was honored by having her song adjudged the best in the song contest.

Camp inspection honors were won by the Bluebird group, their record for the morning inspections being perfect.

One of the high spots was the treasure hunt put on by the older girls for the amusement of the younger ones. The treasure, finally discovered after much scurrying about, turned out to be

Maybe never again such VALUES!

SOME DAY you'll look back to the summer of 1933 and say: "Imagine! A Goodyear Tire for only $5.00!"

Yet even these remarkable low prices mean nothing unless the tire is built right. Along with these extraordinary prices for the new Pathfinder you get the highest quality in the moderate price field Goodyear has ever attained.

This new Pathfinder is a bigger value than the old Pathfinder. It has the bigger safety margin of FULL CENTER TRACTION—bigger mileage from the 20 PER CENT THICKER TREAD—stouter body of heat-resisting Supertwist Cord—and other improvements that make it a still better buy than the 17,000,000 Pathfinders that went before.

Look at the All-Weather values, also! This great thoroughbred—the finest tire that money can buy—waves an alluring price tag.

Whichever you want—new Pathfinder or All-Weather—remember this: More people are saving money with Goodyears than with any other kind.

CENTERVILLE FIRE FIGHTERS WILL ATTEND MEET

Several members of the Centerville fire department will attend the meeting of the Alameda County Firemen's Association to be held tonight in Pleasanton. Among those who will go are: Frank Madruga, assistant chief; Joe Jason, Tony Silva, Les Nunes, F. Botelho and Tony Cogina. The latter will take his band along to furnish the music for the affair, it being the demand of the department that "That Centerville band play." Cogine and his musicians furnished the music for the firemen's meet in Castro Valley not long ago.

According to Clarence Crane, member of the Niles department, several Niles firemen will attend the session. It is expected that the speaker of the evening will be the chief of one of the larger city departments.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Silva are the proud parents of a new baby boy, born Saturday.

LEGION VS LIONS BALL GAME WILL ATTRACT CROWDS

Legionaries Seek Gore of Centerville Club August 28th

Interest is running high in Washington township as the time approaches for the ball game of the century between the Centerville Lions Club and the American Legion Post teams, for the benefit of the milk fund.

Slated to clash on the Washington Union High school diamond on the morning of August 27, both aggregations are mustering their stars and reserves for afternoons of strenuous practice. The Lions Club, victors in the first game, are preparing to meet the deadly onslaught of an aroused and vengeful gang of Legionnaires, who all insist that a Lion pelt will soon dangle from the Post belt.

Preparations are being made to handle the multitudes expected to witness the encounter, and word is issued that no seats will be reserved.

According to Chick Santos, Lion president, the club team has all of the talent necessary for a winning outfit. He added that getting the members of said outfit out for the semi-weekly practice session is like pulling teeth. In arranging for the equipment to be used for the game, Santos for a time considered a prune dipper for the first baseman, but abandoned the idea when Frank Madruga pointed out the clumsiness of the device. After some discussion it was decided to use a regular first baseman's mitt, come what may.

The Legionaries, out for gore this time, merely smile at the idea of losing.

Substitutes: Olin Gilbert, Jack Williamson and Andy Logan.

ENJOY CANYON PICNIC

Several Centerville and Niles people spent an enjoyable day picnicking in Niles Canyon Sunday. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Tony Alves and children, of Niles; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Furtado and daughter, of Centerville; Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Bettencourt and sons, of Centerville; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Furtado, of Hayward; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Furtado, Jr., and Miss Gladys Vargas.

SEWING CLUB MEETS WITH MRS. FRANK COFFIN

The Pleasanton Sewing club held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Frank Coffin last Tuesday afternoon.

The women sewed on various articles. At the close of the day delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

Those who attended the gathering were the Mesdames Sam and Dan Huddleston, George Adams, Miss Lillie Kiefer, Mrs. Hugo Radbruch and the hostess.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Sam Huddleston Tuesday, August 22.

HODGKINS FORDS PLAY ASHLAND SUNDAY

The Hodgkins Fords are headed for a long string of victories, according to Ira B. Hodgkins, who insists that the ball players of his club have realized that they can play a big league brand after all. Sunday's game, to have been with the O. K. Battery team of Oakland, was called off when the Battery outfit gave sundry reasons for not invading the home grounds of the Ford team (which last week severely troubled the Barcovitch Company, league champions.)

Next Sunday's game will be another one away from home for the Fords when they go to Ashland to mix it up with the Ashland nine, which, by the way, is reported to have imported a coast league pitcher solely for the purpose of stopping the Fords. The Ashland boys must remember a day several weeks ago at Centerville when they lost their reputation as a good ball club.

Hodgkins has given Fontes a new bat, and instructed him to break all the fences he may care to, provided he does it from the home plate and off of pitched balls.

U. C. CREW CAPTAIN TO BE SPEAKER AT LIONS CLUB MEET

Norry Graham, Coxswain of Olympic Eight, Will Be Guest

Norris Graham, coxswain and captain of the 1932 University of California Olympic championship crew will be the speaker for the second athletic night meeting to be held this year by the Centerville Lions Club. The meeting will be at the Hotel Gregory, Centerville, next Tuesday evening. Graham will accompany his remarks concerning stroke, form and training methods with action slides of the crew in various races, and will attempt to show in some measure the gruelling grind that is paramount in the production of a championship eight. He will show pictures of the shells, and make a brief explanation of their construction, as well as that of the sweeps.

Another prominent Californian to be a guest of the club next Tuesday evening is Carl Handy, former football captain.

Everyone is cordially invited to attend the meeting, which, in true Lion style, promises to be one of the high spots of the township calendar for the early fall.

"It Isn't The Heat, It's The Humidity"

"It isn't the heat, it's the humidity," fits well into a description of Washington township weather throughout the past week. Residents of the region who have been wondering what made them feel like the flap on an envelope, may rest more easily if their discomfort is explained. South winds Monday brought in enough moisture to give a good threat of rain, as clouds lowered and temperatures soared.

Although the thermometers have not registered above 95 degrees, the heat of the past week has been more noticeable because of the unusually high humidity. In San Jose Tuesday the wet bulb thermometer showed the very high per cent of moisture in the air, of 68.

Niles and vicinity were affected similarly early in the week.

FEARED MOISTURE RULINGS FOR COTS PROVE HARMLESS

No Trouble Encountered in Keeping Below Maximum

The much discussed and greatly feared moisture content ruling on apricots passed early this season by the Federal government, has not proved the bugaboo that growers dreaded. Malignant at first as just another bogey conjured up by over-busy imaginations of food commission minds, the ruling has not as yet given any appreciable trouble.

Necessarily, caution has been used by both growers and packers alike in order that the stipulated maximum moisture content might not be passed. Fruit drying establishments had little trouble in keeping the content below 16 per cent, but packers have had some difficulty in keeping the packed product below the 26 per cent line set by the ruling. The natural absorption of the fruit in the washing and cleaning and sterilizing process has made it necessary to test the finished product carefully. The use of accurate testing apparatus has reduced the danger of overstepping the federal bounds.

So far as has been determined, there have been no noticeable cases of seizure of fruit because of violation of the ruling. Growers, after their early season apprehension are breathing sighs of well earned relief.

GOODYEAR TIRES AT SURPRISINGLY LOW PRICES NOW

Louis Di Giulio and Ed. Leal, who for the past year have been operating the American Garage, at Niles, are entering into the general business revival with a vengeance. Realizing that prices are soon to soar, they are calling attention to the values to be had at the present time in Goodyear tires, for which they are the local dealers.

According to Di Giulio, Goodyear tires have many unique features that make them popular. Supertwist Cord, wider center tread and 20 per cent thicker tread, make Goodyear tires the choice of millions of motorists.

Leal says that truckmen, who insist that tires be more than tough, use Goodyear tires exclusively. He says the supertwist cord makes Goodyear blowout-proof.

See the American Garage ad in this issue.

DRUNKEN DRIVER GETS 60 DAYS IN JAIL

Arrested on the Centerville-Irvington highway August 3 for driving on automobile while he was in a decidedly intoxicated condition, Joseph Arredondo, of Decoto, was Friday sentenced to sixty days in the county jail by Judge J. A. Silva.

Apprehended by Motorcycle Officer Duffy Lewis, Arredondo insisted that he was stone sober, and demanded a jury trial. He later waived jury trial and engaged the public defender of Alameda county to conduct his case. In the trial by court, he was found guilty and sentenced by Judge Silva.

Arredondo later admitted that he had been to a private party where the juice of the grape had flowed freely.

Sixteenth District P.T.A. Meets Soon at Alameda

Mrs. F. M. Clark, newly elected president of the Sixteenth District California Congress of Parents and Teachers, will preside over the first meeting of the year which will be held at the Alameda High School Monday, August 28.

At the morning session, Mrs. Clark will introduce the several vice-presidents, and an outline of the year's work will be given by the chairmen of the following departments:

Finance and budget, Mrs. A. B. Roy; membership, Mrs. W. E. Appel; association standards, Mrs. A. L. Shackelford; publicity, Mrs. W. K. Morrison; study groups, Mrs. J. S. Marshall; publications, Mrs. Henry Hodges; student welfare, Mrs. J. R. Sitten.

During the afternoon, reports will be made on the national convention held during May in Seattle by Mrs. W. J. Garrish and Mrs. C. Murphy.

Mrs. E. Persson, whose home is in the Hawaiian Islands, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Mark Yarnell, in Niles. Mrs. Persson will sail for home next month.

OFFICIAL BULLETIN LISTS NILES NRA PLEDGE SIGNERS

100 Per Cent Signup Is Expected Before September 1

The second official bulletin to be issued by Wesley O. Ash, district manager of the United States Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, gives the names of the following Niles industries and business houses that have signed with the NRA between August 5 and 10:

Manufacturers:
Township Register.
California Pottery Company.
Retailers:
American Garage.
M. J. Cavanaugh.
Florence Restaurant.
Martini's Store.
Niles Quality Grocery.
Niles Hardware and Plumbing Company.
Rose Garage.
Shamrock Grill.
T. Stathis.
Niles Machine Shop.
L. A. Orford.
Rosebud Beauty Shoppe.

Plus the ten business places that were listed in last week's bulletin, the total number is swelled to twenty-three. This number is not indicative, however, of the total number of signers in the town at the present time, there being many who have not been listed in the official bulletins as yet.

Apparently the boycott, to be used as a weapon against non-conformers, will not find much material to work on in Washington township, all of the towns reporting a steady sign-up.

Enforcement of the codes has made itself felt in several of the larger cities, proving to violators of the code that the government means serious business.

MISSION FIREMEN VANQUISH CUBS 22-9 SUNDAY

Mission Firemen defeated the Hayward Cubs 22 to 5 Sunday at Mission. It was a practice game because the Cubs forfeited the game to Mission 9 to 0 as they were shy several regular players.

Frank Steinmetz pitched seven innings for Mission and allowed seven hits and five runs and struck out and walked four men. He was relieved by Worth, who struck out two and allowed two hits. Oliver, Lewis and Pence, Cub pitchers, allowed 21 hits, 22 runs, walked seven batted two and struck out five men.

Ed Rogers came through with a triple and three singles in five tries for Mission, and Telles followed in close with a homer, a double and a single.

HAYWARD THEATER TO SHOW "JENNIE GERHARDT" AUG. 22

Tonight concludes the three-day run of "When Ladies Meet" at the Hayward theater. Splendid entertainment, with such leaders in the cast as Ann Harding and Robert Montgomery, this is a play that no one can afford to miss.

Suave William Powell in "Private Detective No. 62," heads the bill for Friday and Saturday. An added feature will be Sally Blane and Ralph Morgan in "Trick for Trick."

Thunderous Marjorie Rameau, and Elissa Landi play the major parts in "The Warrior's Husband," a story of when women were the fighters, to be shown at Hayward on Sunday and Monday. Frey James Cagney lends a spice to the program in "The Mayor of Hell."

On Tuesday, August 22, Sylvia Sidney is slated to appear in Theodore Drieser's powerful drama, "Jennie Gerhardt." Tuesday is glassware night.

Brought back again by popular demand, Mae West, in "She Done Him Wrong" will be the attraction for Wednesday and Thursday nights. According to the theater management, this is the third and last time that this startling picture will be shown at Hayward. On the same bill will be James Dunn and Sally Eilers in "Hold Me Tight."

NRA Meeting Draws Immense Crowd At Pleasanton City Hall

Before a large number of Pleasanton business men and women which packed the meeting room at the City Hall last Tuesday the N. R. A. system of working was thoroughly explained by Rasmussen Hansen, of Livermore, who was the speaker of the evening.

Hansen had an interview with the State Labor Commissioner and stated that all merchants would have to join the N. R. A. within the next two weeks and those who would not join in the allotted time would be boycotted and serious penalty would be applied.

The purpose of the N. R. A. is to increase employment and to decrease the working hours of workers, especially in factories where the employed are working over fifty-two hours a week. He went on to say that different businesses have different schedules of hours and that until this N. R. A. was thoroughly thrashed out no special code of opening hours of business could be adopted. Retail groceries have been cut down to forty-eight hours a week while a skilled mechanic is not to work more than thirty-five hours unless time and a half is paid, within a certain limit of hours.

He stated that a number of concerns have cut down the number of office hours in order to comply with the N. R. A., but in these instances they are not doing the right thing, because the hours open to the public should not be cut down but extra help should be hired or the program of hours so arranged as to give the public the same service as in the past.

Other speakers who were called upon to give their opinion in the N. R. A. were Andrew Greve, Thos. H. Silver, F. E. Hartzell, Thomas Orloff and Peter Madsen.

The next meeting will be held in two weeks at which time it is expected that a code of opening and closing hours will be adopted.

Cat-Charming Rattler Slain By Sunol Girl

On Sunday morning Miss Frances Buttner was awakened from her slumbers by a "peculiar song." She looked from her window and saw her pet Persian kitten being charmed by a large rattler under her window coiled for a spring upon the kitten. Miss Buttner grabbed her .22 rifle which she keeps at the head of her bed, and with true aim shot the reptile through the head. He measured about four feet, having four rattles.

Alvin Mendoza is spending two weeks in Turlock, visiting his sister, Mrs. Frank Garcia.

Henry Chase spent last week in Stockton, visiting friends.

Mrs. Hoag spent several days in Oakland last week on business.

F. Crespi, of Vallejo, spent Sunday in Sunol.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Adams, of Sonoma, are spending a few days with Mrs. R. M. Bollock.

REPORTER SPRAINS ANKLE

Miss Hazel Mendoza, reporter in the Pleasanton Times, sprained her ankle in an unfortunate run from a hostile ram. The accident occurred on her father's ranch. She expects to be back on the Times next week.

Mrs. J. B. Peckam, of San Jose, and Miss Maria Ybarra, of San Francisco, were luncheon guests of the Misses Buttner on Saturday.

Mrs. F. Crespi has returned from a several days visit with her daughter, Mrs. L. Pfeiffer, in San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Carpenter and family, of Oakland, spent several days last week, as the guests of Mrs. Hayes.

Mrs. E. Apperson, Mrs. N. Westing and Billy Apperson, of Pleasanton, left Sunday for Chicago.

Kenneth Hardy shot a one-hundred-pound buck last Friday morning.

Mrs. G. E. Roraback and daughter, and Mrs. D. J. Hurley and daughter returned Wednesday from Santa Cruz, where they have been spending the past two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Bollock were in San Francisco Thursday on business.

George Borger killed a deer Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles White, of San Francisco, were the guests of Mrs. K. Brandstetter, Sunday.

Mrs. T. M. Mezza Entertains Prosperity Club

Mrs. T. M. Mezza entertained the Prosperity Bridge Club at her new home on First street, Pleasanton, last Wednesday afternoon. A luncheon was served at noon after which the women enjoyed playing bridge. Those winning honors were Mrs. Rose Fournier, of Niles, Mrs. Charles Plumb, and Mrs. Tiner Sorensen.

Those present at the party were the Mesdames Fred Mitte, Loretta Kerns, Barnard, Rose Fournier, all of Niles; Mrs. Charles Plumb and Mrs. Elmer Sorensen, of Hayward, and Miss Bernice Lewis and the hostess, of Pleasanton.

Pleasanton Lodge Installs Officers Tuesday

Officers of the Pleasanton U. P. P. E. C. lodge were installed at a meeting held at the I. D. E. S. hall, at Pleasanton, last Tuesday afternoon.

At the meeting last Tuesday members received the official visit of the grand president, Mrs. Minnie Mello, of San Leandro, who acted as installing officer. She was assisted in the installing exercises by Mrs. Mary Calderia, of Centerville, who acted as marshal.

A number of visitors from Centerville and Niles were present to see the ceremony.

The newly installed officers are Mrs. Rita dePonte, past president; Mrs. Mary Joseph, president; Mrs. Mary Lopez, vice president; Mrs. J. M. Perry, secretary; Mrs. Isabel Rose, treasurer; Mrs. Mary Dutra, inside sentinel; Miss Velma Andrade, marshal; and the Mesdames Mary Rodrigues, Mary Mendonca, and Rosie Paulo, directors.

Following the meeting the members paid their last respects in a body to Mrs. Mariana Rose, who passed away Monday afternoon.

Mission Man

Russo, Perry and Silvera were riding so close to the scene that stopping was impossible. In the impact that followed, Russo was killed.

Dunham, his wife and three children were all severely cut and bruised in the crash.

According to officers, the crash was one of the most serious kind to be encountered in motoring. Occurring on the open highway, in fast moving and congested traffic the accident could have been even more calamitous than it was, officers said. Santa Clara county highway officials said that great care should be taken in passing cars on a three-lane road, there being the continuous hazard that some driver in the lane of traffic progressing in the opposite direction may choose to swing out at the same moment.

Russo was the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Russo, of Niles. He was 21 years of age, and temporarily living in Mission San Jose to attend to his father's fruit drying establishment there.

PLEASANTON SCHOOLS TO OPEN MONDAY, AUGUST TWENTY-FIRST

School opening for Pleasanton township will take place Monday morning, August 21, according to V. Bernard Johnson, principal of the Pleasanton grammar and E. O. McCormick, principal of the Amador Valley high school.

About five hundred school children will resume their studies following the summer vacation. Already a number of families are returning from their vacations to prepare their children for school.

Because of the limited accommodations in equipment in many departments of the school, graduates of the school who wish to continue work are requested to apply for admittance to classes during the registration days.

The school procedure will emphasize more attention to fundamentals for educational progress. While there are those individuals whose experiences in practical affairs have often urged the schools for more practical skills to be developed through high school subjects, the progress of individuals requires the ability to solve problems of various types and to express their ideas. It is recognized that Latin and mathematics contribute most valuable help to the individual equipment for progress. With the freedom to choose subjects in the high school, there has grown the tendency on the part of students to avoid subjects which are exacting and routine in demands for daily lessons. The fields of science are closed to those who do not progress in the fundamental mathematics of algebra and plane geometry.

Individual needs are well considered in the opportunities to study art, home making subjects, typing, bookkeeping, shorthand, band, shop, mechanical drawing, French, Latin, history, science, English, literature and oral and written composition.

Former Pleasanton Horse Owner Commits Suicide

Charles W. Carroll, 68, owner of race horses and trainer of several noted horses, including Morovich, and W. S. Kilmer's Sun Beam, committed suicide at San Bruno, San Mateo county, August 2, by shooting himself with a shot gun.

Carroll, as trainer of the A. B. Speckles stables, was a familiar figure in Pleasanton a few years ago.

According to reports from San Bruno, Carroll went to his room on the second floor of his home shortly before noon on August 2, tied a string to the trigger of a gun, placed the muzzle to the back of his head and fired.

Mrs. Rachel Carroll, the wife, who was tending the store operated by the Carrolls for the past seven months, in the same building, did not hear the shot. She discovered the body when she went to his room a little later. Carroll had been ill and left a note indicating that was the reason for his suicide.

Among the well known race horses at Tanforan, owned by Carroll were Kate A and Patricia.

Howard Hansen Is Injured In Pleasanton Accident

As the result of a collision between two automobiles last Sunday morning, Howard Hansen, of Tracy, is suffering from cuts about the head and face and severe bruises about the body.

The accident occurred at the intersection of St. Marys street and Pleasanton avenue, Pleasanton, when a milk delivery truck belonging to the Valley Creamery and driven by Mrs. Sam Keating struck the car driven by Hansen. The truck was going west on Pleasanton avenue while Hansen was traveling toward Dublin. Both cars were badly damaged.

On the milk delivery truck with Mrs. Keating, was Joe Gibson, son of Mrs. Cecil Gibson, of Angela street. The lad sustained a cut above his right eye and scratches on the face. Dr. Richard Heinz treated the two injured. Hansen was taken to the home of his father in law, Thos. Ziegenfuss, on Second street.

Music will be furnished for the entertainment by an orchestra from the Centerville fire department.

Elvira Escobar Is Married Wednesday In Carson City

Announcements are being received by Pleasanton township people this week announcing the marriage of Miss Elvira Escobar to Joseph Cunha, Jr., both of Pleasanton, which took place at Carson City, Nevada, last Wednesday.

The young couple slipped quietly away last Wednesday morning and returned last Saturday night.

They are both well known in this community and are receiving hearty congratulations from their many friends.

Miss Escobar is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Escobar, and was born and raised in Pleasanton. She graduated from the Pleasanton grammar school and was a member of the 1933 graduating class of the Amador Valley high school.

Cunha is the son of Joseph Cunha, of Oakland, and has worked in Pleasanton for a number of years, where he has become associated with a number of fraternal orders.

The young couple will make their future home on Vineyard avenue, Pleasanton.

A dinner was served by Mrs. Escobar at her home Sunday in honor of the newly weds. Twelve relatives were present.

Chess Players Hold Meeting In Pleasanton

Fully convinced that they would be treated to a good venison dinner, a number of enthusiastic chess players gathered last Tuesday evening at the home of Clyde Potvin of Pleasanton, and much to their surprise they were treated with delicious refreshments instead of venison, due to the fact that Potvin could not get a buck after spending a week hunting in the Livermore mountains.

A couple of weeks ago Potvin promised the men that he would have a venison dinner and left for the mountains a week ago so as to have enough time to get it, but it was not until the last day of his hunting that Potvin discovered that he had left his rabbit's foot and the salt shaker at home. That is the reason he gives for not getting the deer.

Honors for the evening went to Nels Nielsen. Those who enjoyed playing chess were R. K. Nissen and Jop Eschelsen, of Hayward; Nels Nielsen, Sam Paskevitz, Dr. Richard Heinz, Jimmie Trimmingham, Bill Letham, and the host, all of Pleasanton.

Nouns of Multitude That Are Used; Some Obsolete

Everybody is familiar with such nouns of multitude as a swarm of bees, a cluster of grapes, a brood of chickens, a galaxy of stars, a litter of pigs, a pile of books, a shock of corn, a set of china, a stud of mares, a team of oxen, and many others in common use. There are, however, many strange and practically obsolete nouns of multitude, which in some cases it seems a pity to lose.

Here are a few: a mummuration of stirlings, a siege of herons, a fall of woodcocks, a pride of lions, a gaze of geese or women, a nide of pheasants, a spring of teals, a nide of hounds, a cowardice of curs, a take of fish, a tribe of goats, a sort of mallards, a singlar of boars, a rouleau of money, a muster of peacocks, a watch of nightingales, a clattering of choughs.

Most people use "couple" for two lots of any breed, but the term of ventry, while admitting a "couple" of foxhounds, harriers, or beagles, demands "brace" for two pointers, setters, terriers, or greyhounds. And while three of the last group make a "leash," three of any of the first kinds are "a couple and a half."—Tit-Bits Magazine.

Augur or Soothsayer of Early Rome Was Wise Guy

The word "augur," meaning prophecy, is derived from the augur, or soothsayer of early Rome. The augur held a position of great respect in the Roman government and seldom was any great undertaking launched until the augur had been visited to ascertain what the fates might be holding in store.

Usually there were two augurs, there being more work than one could handle and in later years the number was increased.

The prophecies of the augurs were based on certain birds and other mystic signs known only to the holder of the office.

The augur held office during his lifetime and thus none knew his secrets save those destined to succeed him, the secrets being imparted only when death was at hand.

Lightest, Toughest, Hardest

Lithium is the lightest metal. The hardest metal is chromium and the toughest tungsten. For a combination of these qualities in one metal which may be produced in commercial quantities, duralumin seems to have filled the need of the aviation industry. Duralumin consists of 95.5 parts aluminum, 3 parts copper, 1 part manganese, and .5 part of magnesium. Having the lightness of aluminum, this alloy has the hardness and strength of soft steel as well.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Being Serious and Solemn

To be serious is one thing; to be solemn is another. Often the two are mistaken, the one for the other, but they are very different and may be far apart. A thing may be awfully solemn and not serious at all because it is stupid and absurd. All of us know the solemnity of ignorance, of prejudice, of sanctimoniousness, and how flippant they are in fact. Every hoary old humbug is solemn, even funeral, and needs only a tiny thrust of serious thought to prick it.

Financial Frost

Experiments show that rays from a human eye will kill yeast cells, says a scientific item. In the case of a banker's eye, they are frozen to death, we suppose.—Port Huron Times-Herald.

Windows which permit an unobstructed view one way, but which are as opaque as a brick wall the other, are being installed in the institute of pathological psychology at the University of Bonn, Germany, so that mental patients, and especially children, may be watched without knowing that they are observed. The windows are also soundproof, and the observation chamber is equipped with a one-way sound apparatus which permits the observer to hear as well as see.

White Man in Tropics

The white man can live in the tropics, according to a scientist who made a study of the question for the Smithsonian Institution, but he needs intelligence and a rigid discipline in order to do so successfully. Life in the tropics will certainly become more comfortable as well as safer for the white race, says this authority, but acclimatizing in its full and literal sense is and will remain an impossibility.

Babylon

Although Babylon was certainly the most powerful of the kingdoms by which Assyria was surrounded, we know scarcely anything of its history before 747 B. C. Excepting where Assyrian history, gathered from the inscriptions, clay tablets, and monuments touch upon Babylon, we have, so far, very few authentic sources from which to derive information of its course through its early years.

Many Species of Owls

There are about 200 different species of owls in the world, but only about 20 in North America. The only owls known to be very destructive are the "Great Horned" and the "Snowy" owl. All owls may now and then take a few small birds, but the good they do is far greater than the harm.

How Tailor Bird Builds Nest

In India there lives a little, dark-brown bird called the tailor bird. It is a clever little fellow, for instead of building his nest haphazard as most of his brother birds do, he sews his together. First he looks round for two nice big leaves, or sometimes one very big one will serve, and then finds a thread of some vegetable fiber. He twists two edges of the leaf or leaves together, bores holes in them with his beak, and threads the fiber through them. He does this again and again until the result is a deep, firmly stitched cone, something like a big ice-cream cone.

Protect the Owls

The owl is a valuable bird. The only two destructive varieties are quite rare. Owls eat enormous quantities of gophers, rats, mice and other pests. In one year in Washington, D. C., a pair of barn owls and their young ate 1,596 mice, 134 rats, 59 shrews, and 37 other mammals. Owls are well fitted for their work. They have keen vision, excellent hearing, and their flight is noiseless. They tear their prey to pieces, then swallow meat, bones and fur. The meat is absorbed, and the indigestible matter is disgorged.—National Farm Journal.

Redwood's Only Rivals

Douglas firs come next to the redwoods in size. They often are more than 250 feet tall, with diameters of 6 or 8 feet.

Queen Palm, Is Graceful and Pleasing

One of the most graceful and pleasing types of the feather palms for street parkway use, says the Los Angeles Times, is the Cocos or Queen palm (Cocos plumosa). There are several different varieties of this type such as the flexuosa and Roman offiana species. They are all similar in appearance. However, the flexuosa type seems to be harder and has a more generous bunching of fronds. The Royal palm (Oreodoxia regia), which grows in Florida, is not hardy enough for southern California.

The ornamental Cocos palm used in southern California is a native of Brazil. It usually attains a height of twenty-five to thirty feet with occasional specimens forty to fifty feet in height. It sheds its fronds naturally in time and therefore has a smooth trunk. However, it is usually necessary to pull the old leaves off. The trunk diameter rarely exceeds eighteen inches. For this reason it is particularly valuable for narrow street parkways. While they will grow in a three-foot parkway or in a three-foot opening in a solid sidewalk, it is better to grow them in a wider parkway. From twenty-five to thirty feet is usually the most satisfactory spacing for parkways.

The Cocos palm does not thrive in very cold weather and young palms are often checked in growth when in cold exposed locations. They also require good soil with adequate drainage.

Naming Passenger Ships Requires Good Judgment

In naming passenger ships consideration must be paid to ease of pronunciation. An example exists in the case of the Cunarder Tyrhenia, says a writer in the Weekly Telegraph.

As soon as she was so named half a dozen different ways of pronouncing her title came into existence. She was called "Tie-rhinia" by her officers; "Tie-rhenia" ashore; and by the crew, after unhappy experiences with the German shopkeepers when she was on the Hamburg-New York run, she was wittily nicknamed "Try-and-run-ye."

The result of these complications was that the Cunard authorities made a complete change from their usual practice of naming their vessels after countries, etc. (Lusitania for Portugal, Mauretania for North Africa, and so on), and renamed the Tyrhenia Lancastria, thus incidentally paying Lancashire a compliment.

Hawk Moth Unique

The hawk moth is one insect nature was at pains to provide with adequate means of feeding itself. These moths, which feed on flowers, have a long tube for extracting the honey which often attains a length twice that of the long, spindle-shaped body of the moth itself. This tube, during flight, is curled up spring fashion and tucked away under the head of the moth, where it does not interfere with the flight. In its feeding habit, the hawk moth, or sphinx, hovers over plants much after the fashion of the hummingbird. The tomato worm and the tobacco worm are both larvae of the hawk moth.

California Likes Peppers

Peppers have been a favored vegetable in California since the founding of the missions. They had a place, and first place, too, in the mission gardens. Later, during the "splendid idle '40s," peppers were highly prized in the gardens of the ranches and few dishes came out of the kitchen without some use of the pungent chili. Long strings of red pods were much in evidence about the old ranch homes and, to this day, those who wish to create atmosphere around their modern "early California" style homes, secure strings of chili as one of the decorative features.—Los Angeles Times.

Japanese Robin Good Singer

The Japanese robin is most generous with his music. He whistles every month in the year.

His Share

The children's dinner was in progress. They had been provided with a nice fat chicken.

"What part did you have?" asked one little boy of his neighbor.

"The wishbone," was the reply. "I had a leg," put in another child. One after another they explained the various parts.

Presently little Jackie, who so far had not spoken a word, held up a skewer and exclaimed:

"Look, I've got the perch!"

The First Principle

What girls seem to learn at finishing schools is that a man ought not to marry if he can't hire a maid and cook to do the housework.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Old British Ceremony

Writing of the daily ceremony of the king's keys observed in the Tower of London, Walter Bell says: "For how many centuries back this ceremony has been performed, none can tell. The keys of five reigning Georges, of James, Charles, Elizabeth, go back to the Henrys—back, perhaps, so long as there has been a tower of London—have in this same manner been saluted."

Old American Canal

Funds for the building of the Erie canal were appropriated by the state of New York on April 17, 1817. The necessary sum was raised by duties on goods sold at public auction, taxes on steamboat passengers, on salt manufactured within the state, real estate within 25 miles of the route and by various grants and donations. The canal was opened October 26, 1825.

Bold Navigators

Astonishing feats of navigation were and still are performed in primitive craft. Long voyages were regularly undertaken by South sea islanders with crude but ingenious navigational instruments on which they had to rely for an accurate landfall on a small Pacific island. For if they missed their mark, they were doomed to an agonizing death by thirst.

Potato Hill Wisdom

If a man asks you how you are, it may be well enough to tell him you are feeling fine, although actually feeling rotten; but if he asks you the road to Cainsville, and you know, don't tell him in poetry—describe the road in plain prose, with all the mud holes and detours plainly indicated.—E. W. Howe's Monthly.

Mexican States

Mexico is a federal republic of 28 states. There are also three territories and a federal district. The states are: Aguascalientes, Campeche, Chiapas, Chihuahua, Coahuila, Colima, Durango, Guanajuato, Guerrero, Hidalgo, Jalisco, Mexico, Michoacan, Morelos, Nayarit, Nuevo Leon, Oaxaca, Puebla, Queretaro, San Luis Potosi, Sinaloa, Sonora, Tabasco, Tamaulipas, Tlaxcala, Vera Cruz, Yucatan and Zacatecas. The peninsula of Lower California constitutes two of the territories. The other one is Quintana Roo.

Water Transportation

Log rafts supported on inflated oxskins have been in use for centuries in Chile; on the River Ganges the scheme has been developed a stage farther, using earthenware pots. This introduced the displacement principle, which met with fierce opposition in civilized Britain a hundred years ago when iron ships were introduced.

Historic Church Edifice

One of the most interesting churches in Europe is the huge Trondhjem cathedral, the most northern cathedral in Europe, which was built in 1066 on the site of the first Christian church in Norway. King Haakon I knelt before the altar of Trondhjem cathedral when he was crowned in 1299.

Early "Americans"

Hart's "Formation of the Union" says that in 1780, of the 3,170,000 white inhabitants of the United States probably the ancestors of eight-tenths were English. There were also about 750,000 negroes.

Malabar Squirrel

The Malabar squirrel of the Malay peninsula is approximately twice as large as our North American gray squirrel. It is chiefly gray in color though tinged with spottings of black and red.

Unnecessary Search

"There may, as you say, be honor or among thieves," said Hi Ho, the sage of Chinatown, "but why search in the darkness of life for what may be readily found in the sunlight?"—Washington Star.

Wash Fish Scales Off Coins

A bank in Eastcheap, London, has been washing its silver money for years before giving it out. It comes in from the Billingsgate fish market and is covered with fish scales, etc.

"Poliwogs"

The name "poliwig" is colloquial for tadpoles, the aquatic larva of amphibians, like frogs and toads. They breathe by external gills and have a fin-like membrane on the tail. Later the limbs and lungs develop and the external gills entirely disappear.

"Ownership" of the Dead

Unless disposed of by will, ownership of a dead body is legally vested in husband or wife, with children following, and then next to kin in order of blood succession. For state purposes a coroner may claim temporary custody, but never ownership.

Stingy

Little Agnes, a city child, was visiting her grandfather on the farm. When the child was refused a second glass of milk, she pointed a finger and said: "Shame! You've got two whole cowfolds out in the barn right this minute!"

The Eternal Process

Whether the longer life that is won by new knowledge of diet is pure gain or not remains to be seen. Maybe the surplus is merely to be devoted to study of diet with the thought of prolonging life, and so on.—New York Sun.

ALVARADO LOSES TO NEWARK J & F'S SUNDAY

The J & F's ball team was again victorious on Sunday. Alvarado was the defeated team, being defeated by four runs. The final score was 6 to 2.

There was clever playing on the parts of both teams during the whole game. Alvarado held Newark 2 to 1 until the sixth inning. There were two men on base when Feleclano for Newark landed a two-base hit, scoring both the men and putting Newark in the lead 3 to 2.

Wilson, Newark pitcher, struck out ten men, the Alvarado pitcher, Medeiros, struck out three. Henry Cooper, another Newark pitcher, attended the game but did not play because of a bruised hand.

A. Rivers, Amaral, and Roderick collected two-base hits for Alvarado. Henry Robinson, Howard Robinson, and Feleclano collected two-base hits for Newark. Joe Jason, proprietor of the J & F Metal Products Company attended the ball game with A. N. Silva, well-borer of Centerville.

Following are the box scores and lineups for both teams:

	Newark	AB	R	H.
Robinson	4	1	2
Silva	5	1	2
H. Robinson	5	1	2
Dondero	4	1	1
De Valle	4	0	1
Feleclano	4	0	2
Ornelas	4	1	1
Soito	4	0	2
Wilson	4	1	0
	38	6	13

	Alvarado	AB	R	H
Amaral	4	1

OPENING OF DUCK SEASON SET FOR NOVEMBER 1

Washington township mimros, especially game bird hunters, will be interested to know that the opening date of California's duck season probably will be November 1, continuing for sixty days, according to an announcement made by H. R. Basford, president of the Fish and Game Development Association.

"We have been advised by H. P. Sheldon, acting chief of the Biological Survey in Washington, that it will probably be several weeks before the new federal regulations governing the open season on waterfowl will be ready. Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace must give his official approval to the measures before they become effective for California.

"Sheldon expressed the belief there would be no change of seasonal dates as the survey made no recommendations of change.

President Basford declared that the Fish and Game Development Association had received many requests from sportsmen concerning season dates and the new regulations so wired the biological survey requesting data. Hundreds of clubs in the state are affected by the dates as flooding and feeding plans must be attended to shortly.

It is estimated that 16,000 tons of feed will be purchased from California farmers for feeding purposes, at a cost ranging between $300,000 and $400,000. Approximately 600 men will be given employment by virtue of the duck season opening.

Nut Drops Off Steering Gear; Car Invades Field

An unidentified motorist narrowly escaped a serious crash at the subway north of Niles Monday when a nut worked loose from the tie-rod in the steering assembly of his car. Out of control, the car plowed off into an orchard on the east side of the highway and came to a standstill after miraculously missing a number of trees. Witnesses said that the driver, with great unconcern, climbed out, replaced the missing nut and drove away.

order that more time may be given to discussion of various problems. In view of the fact that the time at the noon meetings is limited, it is expected that the body will definitely decide on the evening plans at next Monday's meet.

It being the chamber's previous intention to have the first meeting after the vacation fall on September 11, a motion was made to move the opening date up to August 14 (last Monday). The motion was unanimously carried, all members of the civic group deciding that preparations must be made to carry out any ideas imposed on the body by the NRA heads.

Dr. E. C. Grau's father, E. Grau, of Oaklahoma, was a guest of the chamber Monday.

F. V. Jones, president, expressed his gratification at the large turnout of members for the special meeting, and said that the Niles Chamber of Commerce is ready and eager to assist in the attainment of the goal set by the NRA.
